

Dev Log #8: Week of November 8th

General description:

Our goal as a group was to get all of the previous work that was not done completed.

What was completed?

I was able to get the chat to handle multiple chat. This was done by using an online sdk for chat call chat-sdk(<https://github.com/chat-sdk/chat-sdk-android>). Which is basically an open source sdk that allows people to implement a complicated chat interface without having to develop one. Along with that I was able to get the structure of rest clients finished for the current endpoints

Goals for next week:

- Test completed work and implement it into the ui