

Dev Log #9: Week of November 15th

---

General description:

So, we wanted to start looking at the overall structure of our application and how we would describe it in words, since the oral exam would be approaching soon. Along with that we were continuing to work on the application

What was completed?

Continuing to fine to the changes that were imputed in the previous week. We also began laying out the base of our presentation by discussion the structure of everyone's code

Goals for next week:

- Finishing the documentation and presentation for the d3. Along with practicing out presentation for the oral exam part of d3